

MISSING GREAT THINGS.

rumous Gold Dicks That Have Been Kicked and Let Lie.

"I dare say every great invention, before it is finally hit upon," remarked a New Orleans lawyer, "has been within the hand's reach of dozens of men who were unaware how near they stood to fortune. There is nothing more singular in fact than the way people can skite around some huge idea without seeing it. When the fore-doomed fellow comes along, grasps the practicality of the thing and reaps the reward of perspicacity, the others who have been so near and yet so far feel somehow that he has interfered with their vested rights. Lots of famous laws have grown out of those conditions. But it is certainly disconcerting to realize that you have established your too on a genuine gold brick and then were fool enough to walk off and let some other chap pick it up."

"I had an experience of that kind once myself. It occurred to me that a revolving bookcase would be a handy thing for office use, and I had one built to order. It proved a success, and on several occasions I thought vaguely of having the device patented, but dismissed the scheme as 'not worth while.' Nearly two years afterward a more intelligent gentleman in New England did what I wouldn't do, and today he is rolling in riches. I have been obliged to buy one of his cases, etc., and I never failed to give up money so easily in my life. Several other instances in the same line have come under my personal observation."

"I have a friend, for instance, who stumbled into the principle of the Bell telephone long before the war. He was a student at the time, and he had a fellow student actually send so far as to construct an experimental line, over half a mile long. They had it in successful operation for several weeks, when it was discovered and destroyed by a contractor, that professor, and thus vanished what might have been one of the biggest fortunes in the world. The incident had almost faded from my friend's mind when Professor Bell launched his invention on the public."

"Another man who was formerly a student anticipated the inventiveness of you, before somebody else patented it. He is fond of fine horses, and again back in the seventies he had a light roan stallion that was almost the exact counterpart of the modern pinto-mare. The big, clumsy-looking horse excited great admiration among his friends; they dubbed them 'mammy whisks,' and he has told me more than once that that foolish joke was the thing that caused him to abandon the experiment. Pinto-mare ticks have made half a dozen syndicates rich."

"Still another acquaintance figured out the exact mechanism of the self-binding reaper nearly ten years before the machine was copied by patents. Not being a farmer, he failed to appreciate the importance of the thing. It impressed him as being ridiculous, and he pinched his drawings to gather dust until he awoke to the fact that he had a fortune by the throat, only to let go again. His comments on the incident wouldn't sound well at a prayer meeting."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A CROOKED CUSTOMER.

He Put Through a Sent Little C. O. D.

"While the majority of men in business are honest," said a merchant of 30 years' standing and considerable success, "some of them are so contaminated slippery that the honest men are kept forever on the edge watching them. Of course the easiest way to beat in to get credit for goods and pay for them, but that kind of thing plays out after a few or two, and then the crook must devise some other scheme and have it of such nature that the law can't reach him, for such follows are not quite in the criminal class. At least they are not so in act, though they are viciously."

"I had a customer once that was of the crooked class, and I was extremely watching him. He was able enough to pay, but in just wouldn't if he could help it, and it was a kind of race between us all the time. He lived in another state, and I shipped my stuff to him by express. I knew him well enough not to send anything except C. O. D., and I felt sure of him that way for any amount he might buy."

"I suppose I had made half a dozen shipments to him, and it went so easy that I became careless, and one day he got me. I had shipped him 50 cases of canned goods at as much per case, and at the usual rate of receiving the money from the express company I received a notification that the goods were refused. Explanations followed, and I learned that my customer claimed I was charging him 80 cents a case more than I had agreed to charge. It was not true, of course, and I was about to order the goods returned, but the express people told me it would cost $1 a case to get them back and I would save $25 by letting myself be beat out of $25, so I submitted, and the man got his goods with a profit to start on of $25."

"What else could I have done and not get stuck for more? Nothing, and the crooked customer knew what I would be forced to do before he refused the goods. I have quit selling him, but he is still in business, and the Lord only knows how many other honest merchants he is working for. C. O. D. confidence gains on me."—Washington Star.

A TART Witness.

A certain Mr. H. was a sharp lawyer and invariably retained in criminal cases, where his peculiar abilities were deemed likely to benefit his client. Old Mrs. L., the widow of a small farmer, was remarkable for her plausibility in speech and manner, and she was one of the cutest sort. The old woman was an important witness for the prosecution in which H. defended the criminal. Her testimony bore hard upon the prisoner, and in the cross examination H. endeavored to talk to confuse or irritate her.

At length, turning sharply to the witness, he exclaimed, "Madam, you have brass enough in your face to make a 12 quart pall!"

"You," replied the witness, "and you've got brass enough in your head to fill it!"

The lawyer had done with that witness.

—Weekly Banquet.

A Very Gentle Hint.

"You will find millions everywhere in nature," said the Rev. Dr. Speckhorne.

"There are even sermons in stones."

"Yes; and have you noticed," replied the long suffering member of the congregation, "that the most precious stones are small and that they have to be cut before they become interesting?"—Exchange.

Thus far there is no official confirmation of the rumor.

A laugh bought at the expense of propriety costs far more than it is worth.

GOVERNOR BRADY'S REPORT.

Plans to Need of More Courts and Land Laws in Alaska.

Washington, Nov. 23.—The annual report of Governor John G. Brady, of Alaska, to the secretary of the interior, urges congressional legislation on the extension of the general land laws to Alaska, giving the natives the same legal status as the whites and the representation of Alaska by a delegate to congress. The report says that at Gipe Nome "everything and everybody is pull mottled; there are several claimants for each town, bush claim, crook claim, and fully 25,000 people are waiting for action of congress there."

Despite the recent legislation of congress creating additional courts and new laws, the whole southern coast from Canada to Yerutu is without protection. Within this area the population is very considerable and property interests will amount to millions of dollars.

ANOTHER COURT URGED.

Another court is urged to be established either at Valdez or Kodiak. Indian natives of Alaska are clashing under their present status and aspire to citizenship.

The government says there should be equal rights and opportunities for all in the territory. After referring to an outbreak of grippe, accompanied by pneumonia and bronchitis, that occurred among the native Eskimos this year, the governor said: "They had it in unsuccessful operation for several weeks, when it was discovered and destroyed by a canteen-keeper, that professor, and thus vanished what might have been one of the biggest fortunes in the world. The incident had almost faded from my friend's mind when Professor Bell launched his invention on the public."

The incident had almost faded from my friend's mind when Professor Bell launched his invention on the public."

SEED OF LAND LAWS.

The withholding of land laws is the real difficulty in the way of getting a territorial government for Alaska. If congress would trust Alaska as it has other parts of the western frontier in regard to land titles there would be within a few years a population there ready to assume the burdens of a separate government, where now the entire population, who are simply squatters, with very low exceptions are not able to do so."

COAST DEFENSE.

Recommendation for Reorganization of Artillery Arm of the Service.

Washington, Nov. 23.—The annual report of the board of ordnance and fortifications just made public, sums up considerably a very large amount of experimental work accomplished by the board during the past year. A general statement of what is needed in the future includes a recommendation for reorganization of the artillery arm of the service. Congress is asked to provide for a coast artillery personnel, suitable ranges and practice drills each year under conditions approximating actual service.

PRACTICE RANGE.

The board further says: "As the primary object of the defenses is to protect the harbors and waterways along our coasts, guns are as a rule so placed that target firing with full service charges and longer and more important ranges can seldom take place without endangering the lives and damaging property of private citizens. This is particularly true in the case of fortifications defending the larger harbors, where there is shipping constantly within range and where private houses are in such close proximity to the gunners as to be seriously affected by the shock."

At least three such practice ranges should be provided, one for the North Atlantic one for the South Atlantic and the Gulf and one for the Pacific coast." The reference to the intention of reorganizing the artillery branch of the service is the only statement that can be construed as having the slightest bearing upon the French gun secret. On the other hand, to show that the United States service has secrets of its own, reports reflect important tests of Professor Langley's flying machine now in progress, but to such general terms as to throw no light on the results achieved in that direction. No progress was made during the year in the development of the use of high explosives destined for experimental work during the coming year the expenditure is $100,000 and a majority of the board suggest a plan of disbursement by which either the bureau of the war department or the board itself, as indicated by the secretary of war, shall control the expenditures.

GARRISON AT HSUAN

Surrendered on the Approach of the German Column.

Berlin, Nov. 23.—Count Von Waldersee called that Colonel Yorck's column reached Hsuan Lin the 17th. The weak garrison immediately surrendered. Another dispute from the field marshal says Marshal's detachment, November 20, drove a stronger band of rebels out of Anki Chwang site: a short engagement, during which fifty rebels were killed and the latter lost eight guns. A squadron belonging to Colonel Yorck's column it is further announced, has attacked the rear guard of the Chinese troops retiring from Hsuan Lin to the inland. The troops killed thirty Chinese and captured eight wagons loaded with money and ammunition and equipment.

NEW SUBMARINE BOAT.

Holland Company Will Build It, Taking Back the Plunger.

Washington, Nov. 23.—The navy department today entered into contract with the Holland Submarine Boat company for the construction of a host of the type of the six heretofore contracted for, to replace the Plunger, the company agreed to take the Plunger off the hands of the government and to build in her place the best type of modern submarine boat or the sum of $170,000, refunding to the government the sum of $40,000 already paid on the Plunger and the sum of $1,365 which represents other expenses to which the government has been subjected."

MILWAUKEE'S BOXING CLUB.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 23.—The Milwaukee boxing club had an auspicious opening tonight, with a card of several good bouts. Madison Ranch knocked Ed Kopek out in two rounds; Ted Malone won from Charles Barry in six rounds; Charley Neary and George Louis went six rounds to a draw.

Many a man who sets up for a wit should be immediately set down again.

DEFENDS EMPEROR.

Von Budow Endeavors to Justify the Radical Speeches.

Berlin, Nov. 23.—In the relishing to Count von Budow, imperial chancellor, again reviewed Emperor William's speech delivered immediately after the receipt of the news of Baron von Ketteler's murder.

"It would be incomprehensible," the chancellor asserted, "if so serious a crime did not make an emperor's blood flow faster."

The chancellor also said no case had been reported where a German soldier had met his death in China in a manner unworthy of the good name of Germany.

Today's debate which ended at a late hour this evening was the culmination of a series of sensational attacks upon Emperor William and the government over the Colonization bill.

Later Monday Herr Deibl had demanded of the imperial chancellor and minister of war a formal declaration as to whether it was true that German troops in China had received general orders to spare no one.

Neither Count von Budow nor Gen. von Gossler had responded to this demand;

Herr Deibl today read another letter in which the writer, a soldier, pointedly asserted that everybody, including women and children, were slaughtered in a certain engagement near Tien Tsing. He also referred to yesterday's statement by the minister of war, Baron Wangenholz, to the effect that the latter was being "systematically misinformed."

He said: "This is as system that is undermining all imperial monarchial authority."

SILVER SPOON IN HER MOUTH.

Vanderbilt, Jr., nee Virginia Fair, is at the Vanderbilt residence, 907 Fifth avenue. According to all accounts the mother and child are well.

CHICAGO'S BIG DEBT.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—Official figures made public today show Chicago's total indebtedness to be $26,832,000. This is the first complete statement of the municipal debt that ever appeared and was issued by Corporation Counsel Walter in answer to a bill filed in court to restrain the city from levying bonds to build new bridges.

THE BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE.

A joint session of the Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. of the Springfield association was held at the church in Orono yesterday and was well attended. An interesting program was carried out. There was a morning, afternoon and evening session. A number of the members of the Baptist church of this city having places on the program, the time being taken up with interesting discussions of subjects in reference to the growth and development of the societies and the good to the individual members. The program was published in advance and carried out to letter.

Impaled on the Pilot.

At Bloomington John C. Gordon an employee in the Alton freight house, not with tragic death. When an Alton truck pulled into the depot his body was found impaled on a pin projecting from the left side of the pilot. The pin had penetrated the left pleural cavity to a depth of several inches. The exact number, to which he met his death is not known. He was a highly esteemed young man. It is stated by Decatur acquaintances of the victim that he taught school in this county last year.

Missed His Coat.

Claude Johnson, a porter at the Central Hotel, awoke out a warrant last night charging Claude Green with stealing his coat from his room. It is stated that Johnson had befriended Green and allowed him to go to his room and when he afterward missed his coat he suspected Green of taking it. Green was arrested by Officer Kirkbride last night and looked up but denied the theft of the coat.

CAN ANY ONE TELL?

Superintendent Gaastad Seeking Information Concerning Early School History.

Editor of Herald—I am preparing a short sketch of the early public schools of the city for publication in the annual report of the board of education. The earliest record that I have been able to find is dated November 20, 1858. At that time Alexander V. Hill and James P. Boyd were the directors in this district.

I have learned from some of the old settlers that Jasper J. Peddicord, Edward C. Smith and Philip B. Shepard were directors in 1861 when the main part of the present Church street school was built. Now I will be glad to find out what Decatur was first organized as a district under the public school law of the state also the names of any persons who were directors previous to 1858.

Our present state school law was passed by the legislature of 1856 but a previous law was passed in 1840 and a number of districts in the state were organized under that law. Can any one tell me whether Decatur organized under the law of 1840?

K. A. Gustman.

Y. M. C. A.

There was a largely attended meeting of the members of the Y. M. C. A. at the rooms last night for the purpose of discussing ways and means of increasing the membership to twice what it is now before the end of the year. The members seemed to be much interested in the scheme and discussed it at some length.

It was suggested by Secretary Patterson that several local clubs be organized for the purpose of contesting for the honor of bringing in the most new members.

Capitols were then elected for four teams and each member of the different teams are to wear a badge so that it will be known to which team they belong. The capitols and their badges are as follows:

LOW AND LOUD.

They were assured of a successful season of grand opera, at least from a financial standpoint. Accordingly the manager deferred to the two society women who had made this thing possible.

"I prefer Italian opera," said one.

"The music is so soft and low."

"Ah, but Wagner is my choice!"

"Yes, but the Italian interferes with the conversation in the boxes."

"True, but Wagner will give us an excuse for talking all the louder!"—Philadelphia Press.

The paramount issue with the commercial nations of Europe is how to compete with the commerce of the United States and they will be busy so long as William McKinley, the greatest political economist this or any other country has produced, is conducting business for America and Americans.

A BIT OF GALL.

Baltimore News: Nothing the republicans can do to show that they are not entirely indifferent to the just causes of popular complaint is to lower the tariff on commodities in which enormous trust profits are notorious. They are only mistaken if they imagine that they can boldly totter in power that they can afford either to spend money ad libitum, to give carte blanche to the trusts, or to ignore the moral sentiment of the people into the dreary hell of subjugation in the Philippines.

To bring the least the farcical is a splendid display of that quality known as gall. The News undertakes to tell the republicans that there is popular complaint and demands that the tariff be removed from articles controlled by the so-called trusts. It is generally understood that the people passed upon that and various other idiotic propositions advanced by the Democrats in the recent campaign and that the people did not have enough of that contention to be recognized as belonging to the original.

The people understand that the republican party will approach the trust question in its own way and they are satisfied. They know it will not be done by reducing the tariff duties on foreign goods seeking this market in competition with like articles made by American labor.

The News does not seem to realize that there is no tariff on the American-made article which it imagines is controlled by trusts. Bryan tried the "popular demand" mentioned by the News in the Indiana gas bill among the iron and glass workers and what those workers did to Bryan was plenty. The republicans want the power of congress enlarged so that it may control trusts. Harrison recommended it. Cleveland and McKinley also recommended this course. The democrats delayed it in the present congress because they wanted trusts as a campaign issue and therefore did not want the power of congress extended. The republican party have appealed to the people. The people have endorsed its course and in the name of the people the republican party will settle the trust and the Philippine question in its own way without the advice of and in spite of the opposition of the Bryanites just as it settled the money question and the tariff question.

BRYAN IS NOT GRATEFUL.

The effort to make it appear that Bryan is a great man intellectually or otherwise is very foolish. Mr. Bryan is an interesting man, a curiously, but in no sense great. He has never had but one opportunity as a lawyer, his chosen profession, to impress his greatness upon the public. If he possessed the qualities of greatness as a lawyer, in this life he failed signally, never doing above mediocrity in his profession. He has never had but one opportunity to make an impression as a statesman, which was during the two terms he served in congress, and demonstrate to the people that in this respect he was ruins unimpeded, the American name unimpeached, the honor of American arms unsullied, and the obligations of a righteous war and treaty of peace unrepudiated.

The republican party has placed upon it tremendous responsibilities. No party could ask for a higher expression of confidence; it is a great thing to have this confidence; it will be a greater thing to deserve and hold it. To the party are committed now and grave problems. They are too exalted for partisanship. The task of settlement is for the whole American people. Who will say they are unequal to it?

"Liberty has not lost, but gained in strength. The structure of the fathers stands secure upon the foundations on which they raised it, and is today as it has been in years past, and as it will be in the years to come, the government of the people, by the people, and for the people."

Be not disturbed; there is no danger from empire; there is a fear for the republic!

PRISON FOR ILLINOIS CAIN,

Newton Knight Sentenced for Fourteen Years for Killing His Brother.

Mattoon, Nov. 25—Newton Knight, an Edgar county farmer, was convicted today of the murder of his brother, Alvin H. Knight, and given a sentence of fourteen years. The brothers were both middle-aged bachelors and resided on a farm owned by their mother. The farm was divided into sections and each brother farmed a portion. Relations across over the management and for a long time the estrangement was so bitter that, while they ate at the same table and slept in the same bed, they rarely spoke.

One morning last winter Alvin Knight was found in a fence corner near the house with two bullet holes in his body. By his side was no one. Newton, having been absent from home that night, was suspected of the murder. He surrendered at the inquest. Mrs. Julie Ollie, a sister, testified that she had heard no scuffle and angry voices on the night of the crime. She disappeared, was located at Havana, arrested for contempt of court and lodged in jail until she had testified. The defendant strenuously maintained he had slain his brother in self defense.

Diplomats Ready to Begin Negotiations With Chinese.

Peking, Nov. 24.—The diplomatic body held a final meeting this morning and agreed upon the terms of the preliminary treaty. Nothing more remains except to secure the approval of their respective governments before definite negotiations with the Chinese peace commissioners can begin.

The precise terms of settlement have not yet been made public here but it is believed, outside the diplomatic corps, that the main points are in substantial agreement with those contained in the French note to the powers, namely the retention of strong legation guards and the occupation of certain places between Pekin and Taku.

A party of American cavalry went today to dispose a band of bandits in a village sixteen miles from Pekin. The village was found strongly fortified, but the Americans attacked and captured it, killing seven Chinese.

A secret agent from Sien Fu to the principal viceroy and governors orders them to cease the manufacture of modern arms and revert to the old type of weapons, because the modern arms "have proved utterly useless against foreigners."

New York, Nov. 25.—James J. Corbett will within a few days permanently retire from the prize ring. Formal announcement of his intention will be made at a banquet to be tendered the pugilist by a large number of his friends. Thereafter he will devote his attention to his ento and permit others to struggle for the honors of the squared circle. In referring to his proposed action, the former champion said:

"I do not see that I will gain anything by longer remaining in the game. There is no money nor glory for me in being a champion for the party in power if that stands the true meaning of the term. It is charged by the people with corruption and legislation are responsible for the party's fall, and its right to interpret the Constitution and the law is not unimportant.

We cannot overestimate the great importance of the party reaching consequences in the political contest which ended on November 6. It has to me no importance. It is not the triumph of a party, but the declaration by the people of their will and would have manifested government. A great variety of issues presented and discussed in the course of the campaign. We may not know the extent of the influence of these issues involved, but we are to know what to certain things which it seems.

KRUGER'S NOISY SUNDAY.

Parishioners Demonstrate Around His Hotel
All Day Long.

Paris, Nov. 25.—President Kruger passed Sunday with his family at the Hotel Scribe, observing the Sabbath in accordance with the customs of his father land. The apartments were closed to visitors.

Although the boulevards were alive all day yesterday with marchers singing songs the Hotel Scribe was crowded and the revelers did not disturb his rest.

This morning found him quite recovered from the fatigue. After an early breakfast he conferred with Dr. Leyds. There being no obrobri of his own denomination in Paris, he held private services in his apartment, surrounded by his entourage. Kruger read a portion of the scripture and a number of his suite read a sermon prepared in advance.

At an early hour free circulation was resumed in the streets about the hotel whose only guardians two policemen stood on each side of the principal entrance. The number of passabys was not greater than the ordinary Sunday crowd. Toward 8 o'clock, however, pedestrians increased along the boulevard because of hundreds of shouting and singing boys. Their advent created enthusiasm, which was rapidly worked up and the streets began to fill. The cheerers for Kruger began and the police immediately established a corduroy about the hotel. Several compatriots of republiens guards quickly arrived.

In half an hour the scene resembled that of yesterday. Responding to the cries and plaudits Kruger came for a moment upon the balcony, accompanied by his granddaughters. Again at 8 o'clock the tumult was such that he disappeared but only for a moment.

During the afternoon and evening there was no falling off in the number of spectators. It was 10 o'clock before the people had sufficiently dispersed to permit the circulation of carriages.

Some manifestations of an unimportant character occurred during the afternoon in front of the offices of Liberal Party and Interrogator, but the police quickly dispersed the demonstrators, arresting some who had uttered anti-British words.

Many cards were left at the hotel during the day, among them those of M. Delavigne minister of the foreign affairs and other high officials of the foreign office.

PHILIPINOS DEATH PENALTY.

Three Americans Killed in a Fight On Island of Panny.

Manila, Nov. 25.—The funeral of Baron Demarais, the Frenchman who was killed by the insurgents while within their lines last year, when he had gone to intercede with Aguinaldo for the release of the Spanish prisoners, took place today in the great church of San Austin in Manila. It was attended by a distinguished concourse including Generals, Journalsmen, founders and hundreds of Americans who were on each side of the catafalque in front of the altar. Archbishop Chappelle blessed the remains.

Your natives will be hanged at Daguang, Lusoo, next Thursday. They are under conviction for arson and murder, the victims of the latter crime including two American priests. The military court is now requiring numerous death sentences upon the natives.

BROTHERS DIE TOGETHER.

Poto, Ind., Nov. 25—Dunham posed bodies of Jerry and Patrick Holland, brothers, 42 and 33 respectively, were found in their houses today. No marks of violence were evident, and, as the men, when last seen, eight or ten days ago, were drinking, it is believed they were drugged, the poison taking effect soon after they reached home.

The brothers were noted for their affection for each other, their appearance and manners were so nearly alike that they were generally known as "Two Dutchies." They were light hearted and cheerful in disposition and the theory of suicide is not entertained.

The precise terms of settlement have not yet been made public here but it is believed, outside the diplomatic corps, that the main points are in substantial agreement with those contained in the French note to the powers, namely the retention of strong legation guards and the occupation of certain places between Pekin and Taku.

ARABIC TYPEWRITERS.

Difficulties of Using 638 Distinct Characters are Overcome.

One of the most interesting of recent inventions is an Arabic typewriter, which has just been patented. Inasmuch as Arabic has no fewer than 638 distinct characters, the difficulties to be overcome are obvious. There are, however, in Arabic only twenty-nine letters, each letter having many different forms. One letter for example, has sixty-five forms, the purpose of this variety in forms being that each letter shall join with the adjacent letters, whatever their shape. This condition of affairs, obviously, is hard on the typewriter, and for a long time past Arabic scholars have desired to contrive compromise characters, so to speak, which would join well enough and which at the same time would be satisfactory to readers of the written language. This has at length been accomplished and, as one of the results of the chirographic reform, an Arabic typewriter will soon be placed on the market. Thus Arab merchants in this country and all over the world will be able to conduct their correspondence much more easily than hitherto. The Arabic language is in use today in Egypt, Persia, and Arabia. Such an achievement gives hope that there may yet arrive a Chinese typewriter, notwithstanding the fact that in language 24,000 distinct characters are accepted use among the educated.

Patient Suffers With Brain Fever as Result of Blow Received in Japan.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 25.—From three sources of information, directly connected with as many ministries of state, a St. Petersburg correspondent of the Associated Press today ascertained that the imperial officials are becoming extremely pessimistic regarding the condition of the czar and asserts that the Livadia bulletin caused the gravity of his illness.

In spite of the notorious ease with which an alarmist rumor can be circulated in the Russian capital, many good judges believe the chances of the czar's recovery are dimishing.

BRAIN FEVER.

One report says the emperor, in addition to typhoid fever, with postural complications, has brain fever, the result of a blow received from a fanatical policeman during a tour of Japan, and it is asserted in some quarters that trophing will become necessary.

Although the imperial ministers have assumed wider powers in the administration since his majesty's illness began, the whole machinery of the government is affected by his disability, and many departments almost at standstill.

The Russian customs impose an enormous burden of detail work, particularly in the matter of signatures, upon the czar.

For example, the numerous special pensions, whose payment on each occasion requires the emperor's name.

LAST BULLETIN.

The following bulletin was issued this morning at Livadia: "The czar passed a quiet day yesterday. At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon the temperature rose to 103 4-10, pulse 88. At 9 o'clock in the evening his temperature was 103; pulse 89.

"His majesty slept well during the night. This morning his general condition of health was satisfactory. His temperature was 90; pulse 75. No complications, however, have been observed."

CONCEAL THE TRUTH.

Berlin, Nov. 25.—The following dispatch dated St. Petersburg, the 25th inst., has been received here:

"It is persistently rumored at St. Petersburg that the condition of Emperor Nicholas is critical. Well informed persons here declare the disease has made far greater progress than the czar's physicians have publicly admitted. A fatal issue is now gravely feared."

RURAL DELIVERY EXTENSION.

Congressman Smith Says the System is Universally Popular.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Rural free delivery has come to stay. Representative George W. Smith of the Cairo district of Illinois, who has just arrived, speaks in the strongest commendation of its operation. He holds second place on the committee on post offices. During the past fall he has studied with much care the results upon the number of experimental routes in Southern Illinois.

"It is no longer an experiment," Mr. Smith said this evening. "Rural free delivery has taken a strong hold upon the people, who are clamoring everywhere for its extension. I know that when the routes were first established there were misgivings on the part of the committee. I doubt if you can today find any member of congress who will oppose the extension of the system. Farmers of the country who have had it will not be without the service."

Mr. Smith believes his committee will recommend material extensions of the service, and that congress will grant the necessary appropriation. He looks upon this as one of the coming features of the postal development.

DEATH OF MISS MARGARET D. GIBLIN

John Foster Bond aged 76 years, died suddenly at his home at 153 North Broadway on Sunday afternoon, November 25.

The deceased had apparently been in good health up to the moment he was stricken. He had eaten dinner with his family and had apparently enjoyed the meal. He got up from the table and moved about the room for a few moments, when he stopped again. Dr. Blumer was called but there was nothing that could be done for the man and he died in less than an hour after he was stricken, Dr. Blumer said that death was due to apoplexy.

The deceased was a native of Ireland where he was born in 1824. When a young man he served five years in the French army. He had lived in this country for thirty-one years, residing on a farm in Shelby county, until about eight months ago, when he started from a life of leisure to Decatur. He was owned by his wife, Martin, and these wife of W. H. Hyatt and Mrs. N. L. Hyatt, though the hour of the funeral has not yet been determined.

She was a young woman much loved in her circle of friends, and they will learn of her death with genuine regret.

The funeral will occur on Tuesday. The services will be at St. Patrick's Cathedral church at 6.

VOTED THREE TIMES.

AND EACH TIME HIS BALLOT WAS CAST FOR HENRY CLAY.

The Devotion of Judge Jimmy Dolan of Missouri to a Political Ideal. The Only Man For Whom He Ever Voted For President.

Judge Jimmy Dolan lived in the back settlements of Cass county, Mo., when the only voting place was the county seat. He had to ride 47 miles to cast his vote. The journey consumed two days at best, and if the creek was up he would be forced to camp over night.

His wife packed his saddlebags for the trip. In one side was extra clothing, in the other food, for there was only one stopping place between him and the courthouse. Several cans of corn furnished the filling in for either pocket of the saddle bag. These were for the faithful animal which never shied or stumbled.

Judge Jimmy never failed to reach the county seat on the morning of the day of election. He dismounted and led his horse to the rail on the public square. He went direct to the courthouse, was sworn and voted. He exchanged his views with the judges of election about the crops and the health of the neighborhood and then did his trading. He usually started his homeward ride in the afternoon and rode until night overtook him. He was familiar with the country and knew where he could camp out to the best advantage. He fed his horse, built a fire in the woods, partook of his food, smoked his pipe and then, wrapping his big blanket about him, lay down in the stillness of the forest and slept.

Early morning found him continuing his ride toward home, while he reached home than in the night. The hour of his arrival depended on the condition of the road. The bay of his pack of hounds signaled his approach early. By the time he reached the door one of his boys was at the gate to lead out his horse, and Judge Jimmy, with his saddle bags thrown over one arm, entered his double log house which he had built in order to have his school for his children.

The next day the routine of farm life was resumed and was continued often for weeks without interruption. On Sunday he would go to the courthouse to hear the post office, the sound of the bell over night, a traveling preacher, and overnight, read his favorite chapters in the good book, played and went in his way.

A small, swarthy, frightened looking man was croaking in the witness chair, staring at all the official and several unpaid and volunteer interpreters who were gathered around him. The small man was Mike Costello, who was arrested the night before with a party of Italians who were arrested in the midst of a general riot at 11 Bridge street. Each of the Italians had been placed upon the stand in turn and through the Italian interpreters, quizzed as to his past in Italy. To come last and was addressed by the interpreter in Italian.

The witness gave no answer to the question, but only shook his head and waved his hand in a peremptory way. After two or three more questions in Italian, which elicited no reply, the interpreter gave the witness up in disgust, telling the magistrate that he was not an Italian. "He can't be Italian," said the magistrate. "Is there any one here who can speak French?"

There is no regular French interpreter at the Center street police court, but several Frenchmen in the audience volunteered their services. All their French, however, did not bring an answer from the witness, who only squirmed uneasily in his chair and looked appealingly to the magistrate. A volunteer German interpreter who came next only succeeded in causing the witness to look more bewildered than ever.

Another interpreter then took his turn and addressed the witness in an impudent harangue which sounded like a buzz-saw going through a knot. The witness looked at the rapidly moving mouth and black beard in terror for a few moments and finally, placing his hands over his ears, turned away with an expression of agony on his face. Several other interpreters, encouraged by this sign of intelligence, started to talk excitedly in their respective languages. This was too much for the magistrate, who, jumping up from his chair, ordered them all to keep quiet.

"Why on earth don't you answer any questions?" he shouted to the witness. "What language do you speak?"

"Sure, those guys wouldn't give me a chance," said the witness. "I don't speak any language tell them they got 'em with their jabber. I can speak when I get a chance all right, and talk, but I'm a wise guy and don't get arrested for contempt of court interrupting court officers. See?"

This answer, which was delivered with great rapidity, caused a disturbance among the interpreters, who left the courtroom hurriedly. The magistrate, however, heaved a deep sigh of relief.

"I will discharge the prisoner," he said, "I think that he has been sufficiently punished in this courtroom for any offense he may have committed." —*New York Times.

In 1842 he voted for his first presidential candidate, Henry Clay, and did not hear for three months and a half that the election had been decided by the lower house of congress, which, by the vote of Clay himself, elected John Adams, and later he found that Clay had challenged John Randolph, who had denounced him as a blacking for voting for a Puritan.

The second presidential election in which Judge Jimmy Dolan was interested was in 1852, when Henry Clay was again his hero and candidate. It was three months after he cast his ballot before Judge Jimmy Dolan learned that his candidate had been defeated.

Four years later Judge Jimmy Dolan made another trip to the polls, camping out going and on his return as he had done before, resumed his work on his farm and did not hear until two months after his ballot had been cast that Martin Van Buren, the man whom Dolan backed because he was Jackson's candidate, and Jackson won the man who beat Clay, had been elected president.

In 1856 he was again a candidate for the presidency. The population of Judge Jimmy Dolan's country had not increased much, and the vote was nearly the same. The county seat was still the only voting place. Judge Jimmy made his usual journey, voted for his hero and returned. In six weeks before he knew that Clay had finally been beaten for all time. Again Judge Jimmy Dolan voted for his hero in the night, slept in the woods and reached his place the following night. For more than a month he refused to speak except as he gave orders for work on his farm.

In 1848, in 1852 and in 1856 Judge Jimmy Dolan made no journeys to the polls, camping out going and on his return as he had done before, resumed his work on his farm and did not hear until two months after his ballot had been cast that Martin Van Buren, the man whom Dolan backed because he was Jackson's candidate, and Jackson won the man who beat Clay, had been elected president.

In 1860 a prelief was established nearer his farm, and Uncle Jimmy Dolan, judge no longer, and three of his sons went to the polls. He saw his sons vote for Breckinridge and Lane, but as cast no vote.

The civil war followed. Uncle Jimmy sent five sons to the Confederate army. He lived to see the cause lost. The states showing the greatest number of petitions filed during the year are Illinois, 20,705; New York, 20,072; Iowa, 9,921;

Ohio, 8,773; Minnesota, 8,616; Pennsylvania, etc. The grand total of petitions filed for the period ending September 30, 1900, are 20,104.

The report also shows that in 11,107 cases debts were scheduled, while 7,017

petitions were no debts.

The nature of business in which the petitioning bankrupts engaged is propounded as follows:

Business, 20,772; wage earners, 7,516;

merchants, 5,023; manufacturers, 3,013;

professionals, men, 4,503; contractors, 4,333;

other miscellaneous, 1,000.

During the past year there has been no material change in the business transacted from that in the year previous.

The necessity of perfection of law by nowhere legal than is declared to be a matter of no importance. The report suggests that it doubtless would not be well to urge any sweeping amendment, concerning bankruptcy attention to the principles of the law.

As far as the law is concerned, the position that the law is in the best condition

and needs no

change.
